

Discover Arlington's Natural Resources

Arlington County's natural resources are more extensive and diverse than might be expected in an urban setting. Within the county boundaries are globally-rare natural communities, old-age forest remnants, wetlands and springs, a number of state champion trees and unique locations harboring many uncommon plants and wild flowers. Learn how Arlington's natural resources are affected by development and how they are documented and managed!

Program introduction by County Board Chairman Jay Fisette.

Arlington County's Natural Heritage Resource Inventory

February 4, 2010, 7:00pm

Featuring booth displays by co-sponsors from 6:30-7:00pm.

Central Library Auditorium

1015 N. Quincy Street (2 blocks from Virginia Square Metro station)

Co-sponsored by: Arlington Regional Master Naturalists (ARMN), Tree Stewards of Arlington and Alexandria, Arlingtonians for a Clean Environment (ACE), Arlington's Remove Invasive Plants (RIP) and Virginia Cooperative Extension.