Executive Summary

In June 2021, the Citizens Advisory Commission on Housing (Housing Commission) and the Tenant-Landlord Commission (TLC) voted to form a Joint Subcommittee on the Status of Aging Properties (JSSAP) to identify (1) the conditions leading to the poor health and safety environment for some residents at the Serrano Apartments; (2) why attempts to address the issues from 2019 until May 2021 were not successful; and (3) develop recommendations to ensure that a similar situation does not happen again.

The JSSAP held three hearings from October 2021 through December 2021 to gather relevant information needed for this report:

- October 20th – Serrano Tenants and Advocates
- November 18th – Arlington County
- December 16th – AHC Inc.

The JSSAP has developed this report to provide a summary of information gathered from 2019 through 2021 concerning the poor conditions for some residents at the Serrano, AHC Inc. and Arlington County's response to these conditions, and recommendations to improve oversight of Committed Affordable Units (CAFs) subsidized by Arlington taxpayers. The report is broken down into the following 7 sections:

1. Executive Summary
2. Serrano Tenants and Advocates – A summary of the complaints by residents and conditions at the Serrano Apartments
3. Arlington County – A summary of the actions taken by Arlington County to address the complaints and conditions raised by Serrano residents
4. AHC Inc. – A summary of the actions taken by AHC Inc. in response to complaints and conditions raised by Serrano residents
5. Timeline of Events – A timeline detailing the activities of the Housing Commission, TLC, Arlington County, and AHC Inc. starting in 2019 when the complaints first became public to 2021 when the Arlington County and AHC Inc. took significant steps to resolve the issues
6. Recommendations – A detailed discussion of policies that might prevent similar situations
7. Tenant Resources – A listing of the rights, resources, and tools available to Arlington tenants

We acknowledge the extensive efforts in compiling this report by the following members of the JSSAP:

- Michael Hemminger, Commissioner, Citizens Advisory Commission on Housing
- Kellen MacBeth, Vice Chair, Citizens Advisory Commission on Housing

Note: This revised report is a final product of the JSSAP but has not been considered or adopted by the Housing Commission or TLC as of 9/1/2022.

Serrano Tenants & Advocates

Summary of Serrano Tenant and Advocate Involvement

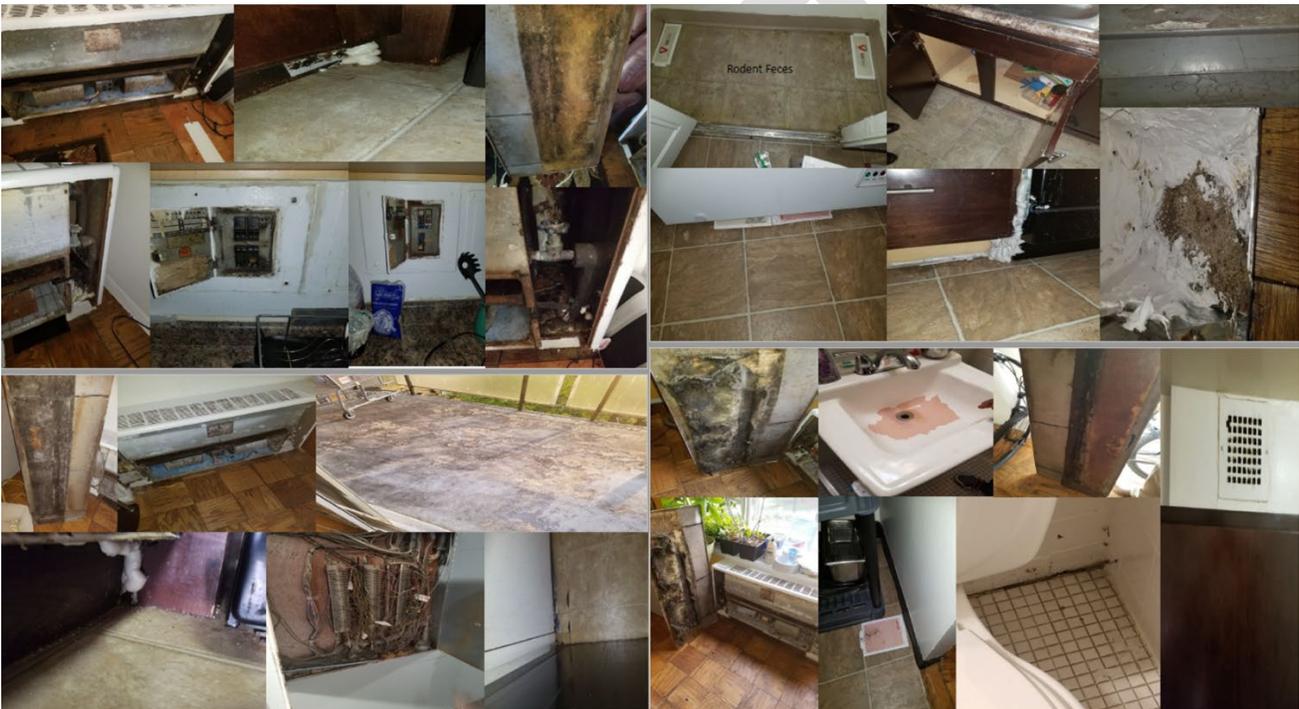

Drawn by the relatively spacious unit sizes, beautiful views from the upper floor balconies, and affordable rents, a range of tenants—including Arlington Housing Grant recipients, Housing Choice Voucher (HCV) holders, residents in Permanent Supportive Housing (PSH), income-certified CAF tenants, and tenants paying market rate rents—have called the Serrano Apartments home since AHC acquired the property in 2014. However, for several tenants, 2019 was the beginning of a series of maintenance issues, poor treatment, and increasing frustration. In Spring 2019, the Kenmore Parents Group (KPG) hosted an event for Serrano tenants with a county board member and BU-GATA, a county-funded tenant assistance nonprofit organization, to discuss tenant rights and concerns about living conditions at the property. In Summer 2019, multiple tenants gathered to discuss pressing concerns such as new utility charges, a confusing new rent collection portal, poor maintenance, poor communication with AHC, lack of Spanish-language assistance, and irregular leasing practices.

In Fall 2019, tenant representatives met with the TLC, Housing Commission, and Arlington County staff from the Department of Human Services (DHS) and Department of Community Planning, Housing and Development (CPHD) to raise these and other issues and their concerns about AHC's response or lack thereof. By mid-fall, the list of concerns had grown to include lack of security in the buildings, poor maintenance turn-around, rodent infestation, poor ventilation, poor heating and cooling systems, and parking and towing policies. In October 2019, Virginians Organized for Interfaith Community Engagement (V.O.I.C.E.), a nonpartisan coalition of over 50 faith communities and civic organizations in Northern Virginia, began working with the tenants to strengthen their ability to organize and resolve the issues impacting them at the Serrano. Together with tenant leaders, V.O.I.C.E. and KPG leadership conducted over 70 voluntary inspections of units at the Serrano and began developing photographic and documented evidence of poor living conditions.

From Fall 2019 to March 2020, tenant leaders at the Serrano engaged in meetings and discussions with AHC Inc., AHC Management, Arlington County staff, members of the Arlington County Board, TLC, and the Housing Commission to resolve their list of concerns at the Serrano Apartments (for a complete list of concerns, see Figure 2 below): chief among them, poor living conditions and poor communication/treatment by AHC Management. By March 2020, the tenants' frustration had increased, and they issued a letter to AHC requesting resolution of all the remaining issues by May 2020, just as the COVID-19 pandemic started. By Summer 2020, Serrano tenant leaders met regularly with Arlington County Board members and expressed frustration that despite all the meetings and talk, very little improvement had occurred. By the end of 2020, CPHD set up bi-weekly meetings with Serrano tenant leaders and AHC to review maintenance and other issues as well as track resolution. Both the tenant leaders and AHC later characterized these meetings as having little value. During this time BU-GATA also worked with the tenants and AHC to address maintenance issues and concerns for individual units.

During the Fall and early Winter 2020, frustration levels among the Arlington County Board, Serrano tenants, advocates, and AHC continued to increase because of the slow pace of progress. After announcing that AHC Management would be replaced with a new property management firm in November 2020, Drucker and Falk took over management of the property in February 2021. However, the backlog of issues facing the new property management firm would take months to resolve. Affected tenants, unsatisfied with AHC's entreaties to be patient and wait for their concerns to be addressed, renewed their efforts to seek help from other sources. In April 2021, the NAACP Arlington Branch, at the invitation of Serrano tenant leaders, did a walkthrough of the property and took pictures of the poor property conditions that would go on to make headlines in the local news. Figure 1 below includes some of the photos taken during the walkthrough of five Serrano units on April 23, 2021.

Following the coverage of the Serrano story in ARLNow in May 2021, growing pressure from tenants, advocates, and community members, and the four-hour Housing Commission meeting that same month dedicated solely to the Serrano Apartments, Arlington County staff began relocating interested Serrano residents (31 in total) to hotels while they worked with AHC to resolve the health and safety concerns at the property. Serrano tenant leaders, V.O.I.C.E., BU-GATA, and the NAACP Arlington Branch engaged in regular meetings with Arlington County staff, board members, TLC, and Housing Commission members to get updates on relocation, repair, and compensation efforts as well as provide feedback on remaining issues. Serrano tenant leaders began meeting regularly with AHC's interim CEO, Susan Cunningham, and other senior staff to discuss the progress at the property as well as next steps. AHC also scheduled periodic meetings with advocacy groups who had been working with the tenants to keep everyone informed. Tenant leaders and advocates continued to work with AHC and Arlington County staff through 2022 to resolve outstanding issues and ensure that new issues were seriously addressed.

Issues Observed by JSSAP

A continuous problem that Serrano tenants faced as they sought to address concerns at the property was that they were unfamiliar with their rights under Virginia law and how to enforce them through Arlington County or at the state-level. This led to time spent discussing their concerns with staff who did not have the authority to address them and frequently resulted in little or no action. This was coupled by hesitation on the part of Arlington County staff before May 2021 to exercise the full influence and range of powers at their disposal as well as a lack of coordination among Arlington County staff in different offices and divisions. Tenants frequently expressed frustration about their interactions with Arlington County staff prior to May 2021 and often felt like staff were not committed to resolving the issues. Additionally, tenants were frustrated with a lack of staff follow-up and their struggle to overcome language barriers. The role played by advocacy organizations appeared to be critical in helping to build up the knowledge and organizing power of tenant leaders while also elevating their issues to those with the authority to address them.

The breakdown of trust between some of the Serrano tenants and AHC was a key barrier to resolving the multiple issues at the property between 2019 – 2021. Once that trust was lost, tenants felt that nearly any action AHC took might have an ulterior motive. Tenants' lack of trust made them reluctant to engage in open dialogue: they no longer viewed AHC as a good faith actor. This led to a shift in focus from engaging with AHC on the issues to engaging with Arlington County. Since the ultimate responsibility for resolving the issues laid with AHC, this almost certainly contributed to a delay in resolution. CAF property owners and Arlington County should prioritize actions that maintain and bolster trust between tenants and property owners.

Arlington County

Summary of Arlington County Involvement

From 2019 through 2022, Arlington County staff with the County Manager’s Office, DHS, CPHD, and members of the County Board invested an enormous number of hours to resolve the tenant-raised concerns at the Serrano Apartments. Prior to May 2021, county efforts failed to make significant progress. This led to an unprecedented effort in May 2021 that continued through Fall 2021 to rehouse any Serrano resident wishing to leave the property using county funds (AHC took over payment for Serrano residents temporarily relocated to hotels in July 2021) and work with AHC to address all health and safety concerns at the property. This effort reshaped the county’s playbook for monitoring CAF properties and resulted in new commitments to address many of the oversight and management issues identified by county staff and community members through the Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report in April 2022 as well as other efforts.

Beginning in Summer 2019, DHS, CPHD, and County Board members engaged in the following activities to address recurring tenant complaints about mistreatment, health and safety concerns, and maintenance issues at the Serrano Apartments:

- DHS Housing Assistance Bureau case workers engaged one-on-one with Serrano tenants with complaints who participated in one of the following programs: Housing Grants, HCV, PSH.
- CPHD Housing Division staff facilitated ad hoc meetings between AHC and Serrano tenants to address complaints—DHS staff and County Board members sometimes also participated in these meetings.
- CPHD Housing Division staff engaged in discussions directly with AHC Inc. and AHC Management to try and resolve tenant complaints.
- CPHD Housing Division staff conducted 19 in-person inspections and 13 in-person re-inspections and 37 virtual inspections and 11 virtual re-inspections of Serrano units.
- County Board members conducted walk-throughs of the Serrano properties with tenants and held meetings to discuss concerns.
- CPHD Housing Division staff facilitated bi-weekly meetings between AHC and Serrano tenants to track issues and progress.

Despite these efforts, tenants continued to raise complaints about conditions and treatment at the Serrano Apartments with increasing frustration about perceived failures to resolve these concerns.

Beginning in May 2021, the County Manager’s Office assembled an interdepartmental task force made up primarily of the CPHD Housing Division, DHS Housing Assistance Bureau, and Code Enforcement to take the following actions:

- Immediately rehoused all Serrano tenants wishing to leave the property in hotels until they could find new housing, or their units were repaired by AHC and passed HQS inspections performed by the county. As part of this relocation assistance, the county provided transportation assistance and food vouchers (for placements without kitchenettes/cooking facilities) to rehoused residents.
 - Conducted a full-code inspection of all Serrano common areas.
 - Created a County website for Serrano residents that included copies of the county's resident letters and information about county assistance.
 - Hand-delivered multiple letters to all Serrano tenants (in English, Spanish, Amharic, and Arabic) with information about upcoming county inspections and onsite activities.
 - DHS Housing Assistance Bureau case workers contacted 100% of DHS clients (98 households) plus additional CAF households requesting assistance.
 - Staffed tables onsite at the Serrano on multiple days to share information about housing and mental health supports, temporary relocation, inspections, and other resident assistance and for residents to request code enforcement or rodent inspections from the county.
 - Coordinated with Legal Services of Northern Virginia to staff tables at the Serrano to provide free legal assistance to residents.
 - Worked with a third-party vendor to conduct mold, air quality, asbestos, and lead-based paint testing in a sampling of units.
 - Conducted HQS inspections of 221 units and coordinated with AHC to ensure repairs were made based on the HQS findings in each unit. Of the 221 units inspected, only 31 passed the first inspection. All units would eventually pass subsequent reinspections.
 - Provided weekly updates to the Housing Commission and TLC Chairs, advocates, and tenants on county efforts and progress made.
 - Conducted multiple meetings with tenants and advocates to hear concerns and provide information.

The significant County response to the Serrano kicked-off one day after the Housing Commission's meeting on May 6th, 2021, where tenants, advocates, and community members pressed AHC and county leadership to address the poor conditions and mistreatment at the property. Previously, both the TLC and Housing Commission had included discussions of tenant concerns at the Serrano Apartments as part of their regular meeting agendas on multiple occasions. TLC leadership engaged in multiple discussions with AHC and county staff to try and resolve concerns brought before the commission by tenants over the course of several years. Prior to May 2021, leaders in both commissions felt growing frustration with the slow pace of progress and seeming inability of the commissions to help the tenants coming before them.

Issues Observed by JSSAP

Arlington County's response to poor conditions at the Serrano Apartments in May 2021 was a major shift in how county staff conducted oversight of CAF properties and engaged with its affordable housing provider partners. As discussed above, the concerns raised by tenants were not ignored by the county prior to May 2021, but county efforts failed to substantially resolve residents' issues. The county's toolkit typically employed to address tenant grievances and coordinate with CAF operators was ill-equipped to address the level of issues found at the Serrano. It would take intense pressure from tenants, advocates, commissions, and the media to reassess what the county was able and willing to do. As Serrano tenants discovered, even engaging directly with County Board members failed to resolve their issues although it did result in increased staff attention and pressure on AHC to replace AHC Management with a new property management firm at the Serrano in February 2021. The Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report developed by the CPHD Housing Division is an important commitment to making lasting changes within county government to ensure that a situation like the Serrano does not arise again and if it does, that the county is better prepared to take corrective action.

A significant contributing factor to the county's lack of robust oversight of CAF properties has been the lack of dedicated staff to manage the portfolio of approximately 10,000 units. Prior to the FY2023 Arlington County budget, only one part-time inspector was on staff for all CAF unit inspections. This level of staffing was insufficient to inspect all the CAF properties. Additionally, CPHD and DHS staff had to juggle competing priorities with limited resources that, combined with a lack of focus on tenant rights and concerns from county leadership, resulted in diminished attention for resolving tenant quality of life issues at county-subsidized properties. This was on top of generally weak accountability provisions within Arlington County's Affordable Housing Investment Fund (AHIF) that forced county officials to choose between forcing affordable housing providers into default—and potentially turning the CAFs into market rate units with no affordability protections—or letting providers get away with poor tenant treatment and property conditions. The county's oversight system for CAFs was constructed around a belief that the oversight provisions of other affordable housing development funding like the federal Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) program would be sufficient or that the county would never encounter an adversarial situation with its affordable housing provider partner. Additionally, while the county had a limited infrastructure in place to deal with one-off tenant complaints and concerns, they lacked a process to effectively address multiple, recurring complaints arising at the same property.

Additionally, Arlington County struggled in specific areas with internal and inter-governmental coordination at the beginning of the May 2021 response. It appears that County staff did not engage with the Office of Human Rights or the Virginia Office of Fair Housing despite hearing multiple housing discrimination complaints from Serrano residents. Instead, advocates educated residents on the process to submit Fair Housing complaints which eventually led to the Virginia Attorney General initiating an investigation of alleged housing discrimination at the property. Similarly, County staff had to navigate a lack of understanding about the role of code enforcement and public health officials regarding rodents at the property. Conversely, coordination between the CPHD Housing Division and DHS Housing Division appeared to be quite strong throughout the county's response, even prior to May 2021. This likely allowed the County to quickly ramp up their Serrano response on May 7, 2021.

AHC Inc.

Summary of AHC Inc. Involvement

In 2014 AHC Inc. purchased the Serrano Apartments, a two building multi-family residential complex on Columbia Pike, with $16,761,045 in support from Arlington County’s AHIF. Under the terms of the purchase, 196 of the 280 units would be affordable for residents earning 60-80% of area median income while the remaining units would be market rate. While both AHC Inc. and Arlington County found no urgent capital needs at the time of purchase, AHC has incurred substantial repair and maintenance costs since 2014.

Beginning in Spring 2019, some Serrano residents raised concerns with AHC Management, AHC Inc.’s for-profit subsidiary providing property management services at the Serrano Apartments. The concerns are summarized in figure 2 below.

Rental Practices and Billing	Health and Safety	Communication and Staff Conduct
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• New/confusing utility charges• New rent payment portal• Irregular leasing practices	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Poor conditions• Poor maintenance turn-around times• Mice infesting units• Poor ventilation and mold• Inadequate heating and cooling systems• Predatory parking and towing policies• Shoddy repair work• Poor security in the building	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Poor communication and lack of Spanish-language assistance• Housing discrimination allegations• Disrespect for the tenant association/organizers

In response to these complaints, AHC Management and AHC Inc., met with tenants, tenant advocates, staff from Arlington County’s DHS and CPHD, and the Tenant-Landlord Commission to talk through the concerns and identify solutions. AHC worked to address several of the concerns raised but by March 2020, tenants and tenant advocates sent a letter to AHC and county stakeholders alleging that many issues remained unresolved and requesting that all issues be resolved by May 2020. The deadline coincided with the early stages of the COVID-19 pandemic, and AHC struggled to address the issues raised by tenants after switching to addressing emergency maintenance issues only during the pandemic.

By the end of summer 2020, AHC began meeting bi-weekly with tenant advocates and CPHD staff to work through the issues raised by tenants, making progress only on some issues. In November 2020, AHC Inc. announced that AHC Management would be replaced at the Serrano Apartments after increasing pressure from Arlington County. By spring of 2021, tenants and tenant advocates renewed their efforts to draw attention to a growing list of issues including claims of discrimination by staff, unresolved maintenance issues, air quality¹, mold, and mice. AHC Inc. maintained that communication challenges remained the biggest obstacle to resolving tenant issues and that only a small minority of Serrano residents experienced health and safety issues within their units. In February 2021, AHC Inc. replaced AHC Management with Drucker and Falk to provide property management services at the Serrano Apartments.

In May 2021, AHC announced that its CEO, Walter Webdale, was stepping down and appointed an interim CEO, Susan Cunningham, in July. Also in May, AHC Inc. began working with Arlington County to fast track repairs to Serrano units, conduct inspections of most units, and provide relocation assistance to residents wishing to leave. Over the course of the summer, AHC provided rent credits to residents and established a voluntary claims procedure for residents who alleged that their personal property or health was damaged due to pest or maintenance issues at the Serrano. In Fall 2021, AHC Inc. appointed two residents to serve on its Board of Directors and vowed to continue working with its residents and the county to resolve any outstanding issues at the property. AHC has also worked to improve communication practices and strengthen trust with residents. AHC Inc. plans to rehab the Serrano Apartments beginning in 2024.

Issues Observed by JSSAP

The TLC and Housing Commission worked with AHC leadership and tenants since 2019 to resolve complaints regarding property conditions and tenant treatment. One of the key frustrations from 2019 to 2021 was that despite multiple letters and meetings with AHC, Inc., the issues never appeared to be fully resolved. AHC Management frequently failed to make significant progress on tenant issues unless the concerns were escalated to senior levels such as the Vice President of AHC Management, Michael Werner. This approach highlighted a failure of front-line AHC Management staff to effectively communicate with and address tenant issues and concerns as they were raised. Even as individual issues were resolved over a two-year period, obstacles to healthy and decent living at the Serrano Apartments for many residents remained.

AHC Inc. stressed to the JSSAP that, rather than a series of long unaddressed issues, the Serrano Apartments faced a pattern of issues that would be resolved by AHC, only to have the same or slightly different issues re-emerge. AHC also noted that many of the concerns and conditions worsened during the COVID-19 pandemic when health protocols required them to defer all but emergency maintenance. While this may be true, the long-standing communication issues and erosion of trust between residents and AHC, Inc. made even minor issues appear like an intentional pattern and practice. AHC's public insistence until May 2021 that the issues only impacted a minority of residents also downplayed the seriousness of the problems and highlighted its failure to take responsibility. Only after the county took drastic action in May 2021 to relocate residents and apply significant pressure did AHC change its leadership and appear to become fully committed to resolving the long-standing issues at the property.

Recommendations

Arlington County

1. Arlington County should require properties that receive AHIF funds to provide funds to one or more 3rd party organization(s) to support resident councils or tenant associations at CAF properties. Providing support for resident councils or tenant associations would further empower low-income tenants throughout the county, help to prevent issues from going unnoticed or unaddressed for long periods of time, and provide a ready source of input and feedback to Arlington County on issues impacting low-income tenants. These councils or associations can also coordinate with the TLC and Housing Commission to share information and ensure tenant perspectives are well represented. Additionally, these properties should be required to post materials in each building and community room outlining tenants' right to organize and protection from retaliation. (Recommendation is associated with 4. Problem Solving Recommendation #3 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)
2. Arlington County should work with tenant advocates to develop guidelines for property owners and property managers operating properties that receive AHIF funds on expectations for respecting and appropriately interacting with resident councils and tenant associations. These guidelines would clearly state how the county expects property owners/managers to treat tenants who choose to exercise their legal right to collectively address issues and concerns. These guidelines would help educate property owners/managers who are unfamiliar with tenant associations and may instinctually try to undermine or marginalize them. (Recommendation is associated with 4. Problem Solving Recommendation #3 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)
3. Arlington County should require properties that receive AHIF funds to have eviction prevention programs or policies in place. (Recommendation is associated with 4. Problem Solving Recommendation #3 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)
4. Arlington County should require properties that receive AHIF funds to report eviction filings and proceedings to the county, to the extent permitted by law. During the start of the pandemic, AHC Inc. continued to evict tenants at multiple properties until Arlington County formed an agreement with them for the duration of the pandemic.
5. Arlington County should monitor evictions at CAF properties and assess adjustments to county policies and programs to mitigate ongoing issues.
6. Arlington County should provide free mold testing to Arlington tenants. The county should provide a letter to the tenant and/or landlord confirming dangerous mold and unsafe conditions that must be addressed under the Virginia Residential Landlord Tenant Act (VRLTA). Low-income tenants often find private mold testing to be prohibitively expensive and struggle to convince their landlords to act when mold is present in their unit. (Recommendation is associated with 1. Oversight and Asset Management #2 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)

7. Arlington County should require that organizations that receive AHIF funds include two or more low-income tenants on their board of directors.
8. Arlington County should require properties that receive AHIF funds to provide annual 3rd-party conducted training to residents each year on their rights under the Fair Housing Law, VRLTA, and Virginia Uniform Statewide Building Code (VUSBC).
9. Arlington County should require Housing Quality Standard (HQS) inspections for all units that receive Housing Grants.
10. Arlington County should increase the number and frequency of Code Enforcement inspections at CAF properties, especially for older buildings.
11. Arlington County should explore providing compensation options or other incentives for residents who are hesitant to allow county inspectors access to their units. For residents fearful of government inspectors, adding a small monetary gift or other incentive could help reduce the number of units where inspectors are turned away. Additionally, ensuring that tenants are interacting with culturally competent staff members is important to building trust.
12. Arlington County should streamline the housing complaints process so that residents can call or go online to one portal or office that will make the appropriate referrals and forward complaints to whoever needs them within the county whether it be CPHD, DHS, or the Office of Human Rights. This would help address the issue of tenants not knowing who to go to within the county to address housing issues. (Recommendation is associated with 3. Coordination Recommendation #4 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)
13. Arlington County should create an Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) process to promote low-cost resolution of disputes between tenants and landlords. (Recommendation is associated with 4. Problem Solving Recommendation #6 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)
14. Arlington County should provide free legal services to tenants (including undocumented residents), potentially representation and/or legal advice, using the ADR process to ensure that low-income tenants are able to understand and access the process with legal representation as many mediators require. (Recommendation is associated with 4. Problem Solving Recommendation #6 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)
15. Arlington County should conduct a periodic anonymous survey of CAF residents across its portfolio. Survey results should be made public and reported to groups including the Housing Commission and Tenant-Landlord Commission. The aggregate, provider-level results of this survey should be reflected in Notice of Funding Availability (NOFA) scoring for future AHIF allocations. (Recommendation is associated with 5. Communication and Outreach to Residents #2 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)
16. Arlington County should explore creating a unified CAF vacancy and application process to streamline the process for applicants seeking CAFs. The relocation experiences of Serrano tenants has brought attention to the fragmented system of applications and waiting lists for all CAF units in Arlington.
17. Arlington County should require properties that receive AHIF funds to meet HQS and be subject to inspection by the county. Failing to remedy violations of HQS should have meaningful consequences for the property owner. (Recommendation is associated with 1. Oversight and Asset Management #1 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)

18. Arlington County should expand fair housing enforcement within the Office of Human Rights to include investigation of 3rd party anonymous complaints, investigations of pattern and practice violations, and investigations of disparate impact violations.
19. Arlington County should increase the frequency of third-party fair housing testing and include more protected classes than just race and national origin under Virginia's Fair Housing Law.
20. Arlington County should expand the county's offerings of fair housing training to residents and require it annually for all public-facing housing staff. (Recommendation is associated with 5. Communication and Outreach to Residents #1 in Long-Term Strategies for Improved Oversight and Tenant Support at Aging CAF Properties Report April 2022)
21. Arlington County should advocate for increased authority at the state and local levels to protect tenants' rights, health, and safety before the General Assembly including the recommendations in the section below.

Commonwealth of Virginia

1. Grant authority to Virginia localities to enforce tenant rights and protections under the VRLTA especially concerning health and safety conditions.
2. Enhance anti-retaliation protections for tenants who form a tenant association, seek to enforce their rights under the Fair Housing Law, VRLTA, and Virginia Uniform Statewide Building Code, or raise grievances to their property manager or landlord.
3. Provide compensation for tenants whose units have been condemned through no fault of their own so that a property owner's failure to maintain the habitability of a unit or failure to comply with the law does not result in simply a forced-eviction for the tenant.
4. Expand the list of provisions in the Uniform Statewide Building Code related to recognized standards of health and safety required to be present in buildings and structures to include standards related to the accumulation and growth of mold, plumbing leaks or issues, air conditioning and heating equipment and running hot water, and the removal of lead paint and paint that is flaking.
5. Allow General District Courts to place residential buildings under receivership when the property manager or landlord repeatedly fail to address significant maintenance, health, and safety issues in the building to ensure that the repairs are made and tenants reside in a habitable environment.
